Safari Club International

The world's most influential pro-hunting organization

For over 53 years, Safari Club International (SCI) has been the leader in defending the freedom to hunt and promoting wildlife conservation worldwide.

SCI is unique in the scope of our ability to defend and advance the freedom to hunt. SCI is the only hunting rights organization with a Washington, D.C. based national and international advocacy team and an all-species focus. SCI also mobilizes our over 153 chapters and affiliate networks representing millions of hunters around the world. The conservation projects of SCI's sister organization, SCI Foundation (SCIF), supports research, wildlife management, conservation projects, and rural community leadership in North America, Africa, and Central Asia. In addition, SCI's Annual Hunters' Convention is the world's ultimate sportsmen's market that celebrates our freedom to hunt with the world's premier outfitters, hunting celebrities, and more.

In the U.S., SCI's robust team of professional advocates provides the hunters' voice in commissions, U.S. state legislatures, U.S. Congress, and the U.S. Administration. SCI Advocacy is on the frontlines of every issue facing the hunting community, from defending Pittman Robertson, no-net-loss of hunting access, state predator management, traditional ammunition use, Sunday hunting legislation, to trophy import bans, and much more. Through SCI's Hunter Advocacy Action Center (HAAC), SCI is able to educate and activate a sprawling network of hunter advocates on issues in their communities, states and countries. Supported by this grassroots army, SCI's political action committee (SCI-PAC), and the Hunter Action Fund (SCI's superPAC), SCI Advocacy works hand in hand with our champions in Congress and state legislatures. In addition, for more than two decades, SCI has been the major defender of hunters in courtrooms throughout the country, including litigating dozens of cases throughout the United States involving domestic and international hunting-related issues and filing seven U.S. Supreme Court briefs on wildlife law.

SCI's staff, partner organizations, and chapter networks are involved in advocacy on local and global hunting issues, particularly in opposing international hunting import bans, opposing firearms restrictions, supporting rural areas and community leadership, and more. SCI is active in Africa, Canada, and European Institutions – among them the European Council, European Parliament, and European Commission. In addition, SCI and SCIF lead in global organizations and conferences, such as CITES and SCIF's African Wildlife Consultative Forum, on behalf of hunters and communities advocating for the important role of sustainable use of wildlife in conservation. SCI's advocacy team is the only one among hunting rights organizations that defends all hunters for all species from around the world while amplifying local voices and supporting sustainable stewardship of wildlife.

SCI members are leaders in their communities and are dedicated to preserving our hunting heritage for current and future generations. Hunting access in the United States and around the world takes many forms; no matter what, where, or how you hunt, SCI defends your freedom as we stand First for Hunters.

The Six Pillars of SCI

ADVOCACY

SCI is the leader in effectively representing the hunter's voice before legislators, regulators and judges across the globe.

CONSERVATION

Since 2000, the SCI Foundation has provided more than $80 million to promote science-based conservation through wildlife research, capacity building in governments, youth and teacher education, and humanitarian programs that show the importance of the hunting community in society around the world.

CONVENTION

The SCI Annual Hunters' Convention is the greatest hunting celebration on Earth. It brings together tens of thousands of hunters with outfitters, manufacturers of hunting gear and apparel, wildlife artists and hunters in support of freedom, conservation and the outdoors.

MEMBERSHIP

SCI defends hunting and conserves wildlife through our tens of thousands of members and hunter-advocates, 151 chapters in 107 countries - for a combined strength of more than seven million hunters across the globe.

CHAPTERS

SCI's successes through the years have been possible because of the organization's amazing Chapter network, which provides the money and manpower needed for SCI to accomplish its mission of protecting the freedom to hunt and promoting wildlife conservation worldwide.

HUNTING

Hunting is what binds all of us together and to SCI. That's why we exist as an organization and that is what we are protecting around the world every day of the week, every week of the year and every year from here to eternity.

Fighting For You, Every Day

- ✓ Through the Hunter Action Advocacy Center (HAAC), SCI educates and activates over 100,000 advocates around local, national and international issues being debated in legislatures.
- ✓ SCI spent over $1.3mil through SCI-PAC and HAF to elect pro-hunting candidates in the White House, U.S. Senate and U.S. House. In addition, SCI played a critical role in passing a right to fish and hunt constitutional amendment in Florida and in defeating a hunting ban ballot initiative in Colorado.
- ✓ SCI successfully defended hunter education and archery in school programs against closures made by government bureaucrats.
- ✓ SCI is the leader in defending hunting access, holding government officials, U.S. Congress and state legislatures accountable to a no-net-loss policy for hunting and fishing access on public lands across the country.
- ✓ SCI led successful opposition to legislative amendments in the Interior Appropriations bills that would have effectively banned the importation of lion and elephant trophies. We continue fighting efforts to shut down leopard trophy imports; oppose a proposal by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service that will further restrict elephant imports; work with conservation partners in the UK to educate the public on how trophy import bans hurt conservation abroad; and oppose a petition to the European Parliament to ban all trophy imports to the EU. On the state level, SCI leadership and member advocacy was crucial in the defeat of several draconian trophy import and export bans in Connecticut, New York, and California.
- ✓ SCI is fighting hunting closures, efforts to eliminate traditional hunting methods and other obstructions to science-based management of bears, mountain lions, bobcats, and other predators. SCI has supported states where gray wolves have met recovery goals and should be removed from the U.S. Endangered Species List, opposed national bans on predator contests by the federal government, extensively supported bear hunting and management across the country (such as re-opening the New Jersey bear hunt), and secured the Washington game commission's support for science-based management of mountain lions to stop continuing elk herd declines.
- ✓ SCI has weighed in on efforts to restrict hunting opportunities for nonresident hunters in numerous states, from what would amount to a closure of bighorn sheep hunting for nonresidents in New Mexico to brown bear, caribou and sheep closures in Alaska. Conversely, we supported the governor of Georgia on signing no-net-loss legislation and the opening of Sunday hunting in various states.
- ✓ SCI actively confronted the proposed RETURN Act, which would gut all 50 states of conservation funding and negatively impact all hunting and fishing activities across the country.
- ✓ SCI's expanded delegation attended the CoP19 in Panama City, Panama, to make interventions and lobby Parties to vote in favor of sustainable use conservation and against proposals that are blatantly anti-use or that do not meet criteria for restriction in trade. SCI/SCIF created and distributed a voting guide supporting the scientific criteria for appropriate species listing status', best practice in trade regulation under the Convention text, and support for the direct participation of Indigenous Peoples and Local Communities (IPLCs) in CITES decisions. All attempts to deter hunting as a conservation tool were defeated.
- ✓ Firearm restrictions invariably hurt hunting, including recent legislation in California, Oregon, and Canada. SCI's Advocacy Team fights these bans and restrictions through grassroots campaigns and litigation, while also supporting state constitutional amendments recognizing the right to keep and bear arms in Iowa.
- ✓ SCI opposed efforts by the Biden Administration's Department of the Interior to ban lead ammo and fishing tackle on 2 million acres recently opened to hunting on National Wildlife Refuges. In response, a bill protecting access on public lands was introduced by SCI's champions in the House and Senate.

Success In Courtrooms & Capitals

- ✓ When anti-hunting groups challenged the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's issuance of import permits for sport-hunted leopards from Tanzania, Zambia and Zimbabwe, SCI intervened to defend the permits, many of which were issued to SCI members.
- ✓ As part of a decades long effort related to gray wolf management, SCI and the NRA intervened to defend the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's decision to remove gray wolves from the federal threatened and endangered species lists and to allow states to manage wolves through regulated hunting. SCI and NRA were the first parties to appeal the district court's decision that overturned the delisting.
- ✓ SCI advocates against restrictions on firearms advertising and ownership when they damage the interests of SCI and its members. For example, SCI sued the State of California to invalidate an unconstitutional ban on advertising firearms to minors that impacts our ability to promote youth hunting.
- ✓ When anti-hunting groups challenged the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's science-based decision to remove Louisiana black bears from the federal threatened species list and to allow Louisiana to manage black bears through regulated hunting as needed, SCI intervened on behalf of our members and all hunters and obtained a successful dismissal of the lawsuit.
- ✓ SCI filed multiple briefs in in the U.S. Supreme Court in support of hunters' rights and access to federal public lands in Alaska.
- ✓ SCI advocates against restrictions on the use of lead ammunition that would diminish hunting access on federal and state lands. For example,
- ✓ SCI and the NRA intervened in a suit by animal rights groups to ban the use of lead ammunition in the Kaibab National Forest.
- ✓ SCI sued the Biden Administration's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and National Park Service over rules that prohibit certain hunting on National Wildlife Refuges and National Preserves in Alaska.
- ✓ SCI, the New Jersey Outdoor Alliance, and the Sportsmen's Alliance Foundation sued the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection to reopen state public lands to black bear hunting. In 2022, the Governor of New Jersey reinstated the bear hunt—essentially admitting that the closure was in error.
- ✓ When anti-hunting organizations tried to access hunters' addresses and other personal information, SCI intervened, and SCI's arguments helped the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service obtain a ruling that prevents disclosure.
- ✓ SCI and the NRA sued the Biden Administration's U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and won a case that prevents the Service from prohibiting imports of sport-hunted wildlife on a country-wide basis without warning. SCI and the NRA later intervened in defense against challenges from anti-hunting organizations to the Service's ability to issue import permits for sport-hunted elephants and lions.

TIPS FOR DESIGNING ADS FOR NEWSPRINT

Designing for newsprint is different than other mediums because the final outcome depends on designing for highly absorbent paper.

- Allow for a dot gain of up to 30%
- Do not convert color ads to black and white, design the ad in black and white
- Lighten mid-tones in images
- Do not use fonts smaller than 10pt
- Avoid reversed type smaller than 10pt san-serif and 18pt serif or light font

ACCEPTABLE SOFTWARE APPLICATIONS

- Acrobat PDF/X-1a compliant files preferred
Save as Acrobat 4.0 PDF 1.3 embed all fonts
- Adobe Photoshop flattened jpg files

Name your ad by your company name and send an e-mail to publicationads@safariclub.org, with the name of the file you uploaded to confirm the ad has been uploaded and received.
