Safari Club International

The world's most influential pro-hunting organization

For more than 50 years, Safari Club International has been the leading defender of the freedom to hunt and supporter of wildlife conservation worldwide.

SCI is unique in the scope of our ability to defend and advance our freedom to hunt. SCI is the only hunting rights organization with a Washington, D.C.-based international advocacy team and an all-species focus. SCI mobilizes our 143 chapters and affiliate network representing hunters around the world. The conservation projects of SCI's sister organization, the SCI Foundation, support research, management and rural communities in North America, Africa and Central Asia. In addition, SCI's Annual Hunters' Convention is the world's largest marketplace that celebrates our freedom to hunt.

In the U.S., SCI's full-time staff of professional advocates provides the hunters' voice at the federal and state levels, including issues such as access to hunting on public lands and state management authority of wildlife. Through SCI's Hunter Advocacy Action Center (HAAC), SCI is able to educate and activate tens of thousands of hunter advocates on issues in their communities, states and across the nation. And, for more than two decades, SCI has been the major defender of hunters in courtrooms throughout the country.

SCI's chapter networks in Canada and Europe are involved in advocacy on local and global hunting issues, protecting sportsmen's rights. In addition, SCI and the SCI Foundation participate in global organizations, representing hunters and the important role of the sustainable use of wildlife in conservation.

SCI members are leaders in their communities and are dedicated to preserving our hunting heritage for current and future generations.

No matter what, where, or how you hunt, SCI defends your freedom to do it.

The Six Pillars of SCI

ADVOCACY SCI is the leader in effectively representing the hunter's voice before legislators, regulators and judges across the globe.

CONSERVATION Since 2000, SCI Foundation has provided more than $80 million to promote science-based conservation through wildlife research, capacity building in governments, youth and teacher education, and humanitarian programs that show the importance of the hunting community in society around the world.

CONVENTION The SCI Annual Hunters' Convention is the greatest hunting celebration on Earth. It brings together tens of thousands of hunters with outfitters, manufacturers of hunting gear and apparel, wildlife artists and hunters in support of freedom, conservation and the outdoors.

MEMBERSHIP SCI defends hunting and conserves wildlife through our tens of thousands of members and hunter-advocates, 143 chapters in 107 countries – for a combined strength of more than seven million hunters across the globe.

CHAPTERS SCI's successes through the years have been possible because of the organization's amazing Chapter network, which provides the money and manpower needed for SCI to accomplish its mission of protecting the freedom to hunt and promoting wildlife conservation worldwide.

HUNTING Hunting is what binds all of us together and to SCI. That's why we exist as an organization and that is what we are protecting around the world every day of the week, every week of the year and every year from here to eternity.

About

For over 50 years, Safari Club International (SCI) has been the leader in defending the freedom to hunt and promoting wildlife conservation worldwide.

SCI is unique in the scope of our ability to defend and advance the freedom to hunt. SCI is the only hunting rights organization with a Washington, D.C. based national and international advocacy team and an all-species focus. SCI also mobilizes our 146 chapters and affiliate networks representing millions of hunters around the world. The conservation projects of SCI's sister organization, SCI Foundation (SCIF), support research, wildlife management, conservation projects, and rural community leadership in North America, Africa, and Central Asia. In addition, SCI's Annual Hunters' Convention is the world's ultimate sportsmen's market that celebrates our freedom to hunt with the world's premier outfitters, hunting celebrities, and more.

In the U.S., SCI's robust team of professional advocates provides the hunters' voice in commissions, U.S. state legislatures, U.S. Congress, and the U.S. Administration. SCI[FC1] Advocacy is on the frontlines of every issue facing the hunting community, from defending Pittman Robertson, no-net-loss of hunting access, state predator management, traditional ammunition use, Sunday hunting legislation, to trophy import bans, and much more. Through SCI's Hunter Advocacy Action Center (HAAC), SCI is able to educate and activate a sprawling network of hunter advocates on issues in their communities, states and countries. Supported by this grassroots army, SCI's political action committee (SCI-PAC), and the Hunter Action Fund (SCI's superPAC), SCI Advocacy works hand in hand with our champions in Congress and state legislatures. In addition, for more than two decades, SCI has been the major defender of hunters in courtrooms throughout the country, including litigating dozens of cases throughout the United States involving domestic and international hunting-related issues and filing seven U.S. Supreme Court briefs on wildlife law.

SCI's staff, partner organizations, and chapter networks are involved in advocacy on local and global hunting issues, particularly in opposing international hunting import bans, opposing firearms restrictions, supporting rural areas and community leadership, and more. SCI is active in Africa, Canada, and European Institutions – among them the European Council, European Parliament, and European Commission. In addition, SCI and SCIF lead in global organizations and conferences, such as CITES and SCIF's African Wildlife Consultative Forum, on behalf of hunters and communities advocating for the important role of sustainable use of wildlife in conservation. SCI's advocacy team is the only one among hunting rights organizations that defends all hunters for all species from around the world while amplifying local voices and supporting sustainable stewardship of wildlife.

SCI members are leaders in their communities and are dedicated to preserving our hunting heritage for current and future generations. Hunting access in the United States and around the world takes many forms; no matter what, where, or how you hunt, SCI defends your freedom as we stand First for Hunters.

Advocacy, 2021-2022:

- ✓ SCI has led a campaign to ensure a commitment from the Biden Administration of a no-net-loss policy for hunting and fishing access on public lands across the country.
- ✓ SCI led successful opposition to legislative amendments in the Interior Appropriations bills that would have effectively banned the importation of lion and elephant trophies. We continue fighting efforts to shut down leopard trophy imports; oppose a proposal by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service that will further restrict elephant imports; work with conservation partners in the UK to educate the public on how trophy import bans hurt conservation abroad; and oppose a petition to the European Parliament to ban all trophy imports to the EU. On the state level, SCI leadership and member advocacy was crucial in the defeat of several draconian trophy import and export bans in Connecticut, New York, and California.
- ✓ SCI is fighting hunting closures, efforts to eliminate traditional hunting methods and other obstructions to science-based management of bears, mountain lions, bobcats, and other predators. SCI has supported states where gray wolves have met recovery goals and should be removed from the U.S. Endangered Species List, opposed national bans on predator contests by the federal government, extensively supported bear hunting and management across the country (such as the recent win of re-opening the New Jersey bear hunt), and secured the Washington game commission's support for science-based management of mountain lions to stop continuing elk herd declines.
- ✓ SCI has weighed in on efforts to restrict hunting opportunities for nonresident hunters in numerous states, from what would amount to a closure of bighorn sheep hunting for nonresidents in New Mexico to brown bear, caribou and sheep closures in Alaska. Conversely, we supported the governor of Georgia on signing no-net-loss legislation and the opening of Sunday hunting in various states.
- ✓ SCI actively confronted the proposed RETURN Act, which would gut all 50 states of conservation funding and negatively impact all hunting and fishing activities across the country.
- ✓ SCI/SCIF's expanded delegation attended the CoP19 in Panama City, Panama, to make interventions and lobby Parties to vote in favor of sustainable use conservation and against proposals that are blatantly anti- use or that do not meet criteria for restriction in trade. SCI/SCIF created and distributed a voting guide supporting the scientific criteria for appropriate species listing status', best practice in trade regulation under the Convention text, and support for the direct participation of Indigenous Peoples and Local Communities (IPLCs) in CITES decisions. All attempts to deter hunting a conservation tool were defeated.
- ✓ Firearm restrictions invariably hurt hunting, including recent legislation in California, Oregon, and Canada. SCI's Advocacy Team fights these bans and restrictions through grassroots campaigns and litigation, while also supporting state constitutional amendments recognizing the right to keep and bear arms in Iowa.
- ✓ SCI continues to oppose efforts by the Department of the Interior to ban lead ammo and fishing tackle on 2 million acres recently opened to hunting on National Wildlife Refuges. In response, a bill protecting access on public lands was introduced by two of SCI's champions in the House and Senate.

Litigation:

- ✓ When anti-hunting groups challenged the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's issuance of import permits for sport-hunted leopards from Tanzania, Zambia and Zimbabwe, SCI intervened to defend the permits, many of which were issued to SCI members.
- ✓ As part of a decades long effort related to gray wolf management, SCI and the NRA intervened to defend the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's decision to remove gray wolves from the federal threatened and endangered species lists and to allow states to manage wolves through regulated hunting. SCI and NRA were the first parties to appeal the district court's decision that overturned the delisting.
- ✓ SCI advocates against restrictions on firearms advertising and ownership when they damage the interests of SCI and its members. For example, SCI sued the State of California to invalidate an unconstitutional ban on advertising firearms to minors that impacts our ability to promote youth hunting.
- ✓ When anti-hunting groups challenged the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's science-based decision to remove Louisiana black bears from the federal threatened species list and to allow Louisiana to manage black bears through regulated hunting as needed, SCI intervened on behalf of our members and all hunters and obtained a successful dismissal of the lawsuit.
- ✓ SCI filed multiple briefs in in the U.S. Supreme Court in support of hunters' rights and access to federal public lands in Alaska.
- ✓ SCI advocates against restrictions on the use of lead ammunition that would diminish hunting access on federal and state lands. For example, SCI and the NRA intervened in a suit by animal rights groups to ban the use of lead ammunition in the Kaibab National Forest.
- ✓ SCI sued the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and National Park Service over rules that prohibit certain hunting on National Wildlife Refuges and National Preserves in Alaska.
- ✓ SCI, the New Jersey Outdoor Alliance, and the Sportsmen's Alliance Foundation sued the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection to reopen state public lands to black bear hunting. In 2022, the Governor of New Jersey reinstated the bear hunt—essentially admitting that the closure was in error.
- ✓ When anti-hunting organizations tried to access hunters' addresses and other personal information, SCI intervened, and SCI's arguments helped the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service obtain a ruling that prevents disclosure.
- ✓ SCI and the NRA sued the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and won a case that prevents the Service from prohibiting imports of sport-hunted wildlife on a country-wide basis without warning. SCI and the NRA later intervened in defense against challenges from anti-hunting organizations to the Service's ability to issue import permits for sport-hunted elephants and lions.

2023 SCI Nashville Convention Experience

For 50-years SCI's world-renowned Annual Convention has set an international standard of excellence for all hunters, collectors of fine firearms and unbelievable artwork. The SCI Convention is the place to find just about anything a hunting family could ever dream of. Apart from its humble beginnings, the SCI Convention has always been held in Nevada. Until now. This new era of SCI where hunters are welcomed, embraced– and celebrated as true conservationists.

Widely considered the “Ultimate Sportsmen’s Market,” the SCI Annual Hunters’ Convention showcases hunting opportunities on six continents, world-class taxidermy, the finest wildlife art, and provides manufacturers a great opportunity to demonstrate new products directly to consumers.

When the exhibit halls close, the evening fun and excitement begins. Each night, members come together to celebrate the accomplishments of the organization and each other and to enjoy top entertainment and speakers. SCI's evening auctions offer exclusive firearms, once-in-a-lifetime hunts and adventures, the finest wildlife artwork and more. Every purchase provides crucial funds to help preserve our hunting heritage and fund conservation efforts worldwide.

Nashville welcomes SCI to the Music City Center, which is in the heart of its downtown metropolitan area. For 50% of the United States population, the booming city of Nashville is within driving distance and SCI has reserved 20 different hotels for attendees to this landmark event.

Tips for designing for Newsprint

- Avoid reversed type smaller than 10 point san-serif & 18 point serif or light.
- Avoid colored type smaller than 10 point san-serif & 18 point serif or light.
- No "Rich" or 4 color black.
- Color type & graphics reproduce best when mixing only 2 or 3 colors never use all four.
- Avoid large solid areas of color & keep total ink coverage below 260%.

Advertising Content Guidelines

Safari Publications will not publish advertising that:

- Contains the following phrases:
 - “100% success” (Unless attached to a past season/year, i.e., “100% success in 2018”)
 - “No kill, no pay”
 - “Guaranteed hunt”
 - “Guaranteed kill”
- Sells primate hunts or hunts for captive bred lions
- Offers hunting trophies for sale or live animals with scores
- Promotes raffles and giveaways (Unless an SCI promotion)
- Features hunts for a specific/individual animal (File photos and stock photos of a specific animal are acceptable. However, specific animals that are still alive & for which specific hunts can be booked will not be accepted)
- Solicits membership to organizations that compete with SCI for funding or are in conflict with SCI goals
- Might discredit SCI, hunters or the sport of hunting
- Sells services or products that are illegal or are believed by SCI to be unethical
- Appears to be disrespectful to wildlife
- Publicizes any contest or activity where cash or merchandise is awarded as prizes for killing wildlife
- Might be falsely construed as inferring the endorsement of SCI
- Implies specific ranking for a trophy animal in an SCI Record Book before the entries for that book are closed. (Only trophies actually listed in current Record Books can be advertised as No. 1)
- Makes false claims or is offensive
- Might be libelous or an attack on the character of individual or the goods, services or activities offered by others
- Promotes hunting companies owned or operated by persons charged with or convicted of game law violations

Rate Policies for Safari Magazine & Safari Times

TERMS

No credit extended to first-time advertisers. All advertising costs must be paid in full before ad will run. Otherwise, payment is due NET 30 days from date of invoice.

AGENCY COMMISSION

15% discount goes to recognized advertising agencies submitting standard agency insertion order forms plus digital art.

DELINQUENT ACCOUNTS

Advertisers whose accounts with SAFARI Publications are 90 days past billing cannot advertise in either publication until their account has been brought to a zero balance and cash is presented for the next issue's advertisement. Accounts 120 days past billing are automatically turned over to a collection agency. Future advertising will not be accepted until the entire account (including all costs for the newly submitted ad) has been paid. Advertisers whose accounts have been turned over to a collection agency are permanently placed on a cash-only basis. In addition, these advertisers will not exhibit at Safari Club International conventions until their advertising account is paid in full. Interest of 1.5% per month (18% annually) is charged on accounts 30 days past billing.

COPY & CONTRACT PROVISIONS

All advertisements are accepted and published by the Publisher on the representation that the advertisers and/or advertising agency are properly authorized to publish the entire contents & subject matter thereof. It is understood that the advertiser and/or advertising agency will indemnify and hold the Publisher harmless from and against any loss expense or other liability resulting from any claims or suits that may arise out of the publication of such advertisements. Publisher assumes no responsibility for insertion of incorrect key number or incorrect advertisement or omission of any advertisement. Publisher will not be bound by conditions printed or appearing on order blanks or copy instructions that conflict with provisions of the rate card. SAFARI Publications reserves the right to decline or reject any advertising for any reason, at any time without liability, even though previously acknowledged or accepted.

Advertising Material Specifications

Ad duplications for other publications require written permission from the client & are subject to processing fees starting at $45. Only ads generated by SCI's Art Department will be sent. SCI will not duplicate ads generated & produced by outside agents, whose agents should be contacted directly. All requests must be made at least one week in advance of the date required by the publication and are subject to SCI's production schedule. Rush ads will incur additional fees.
